NEW AND IMPROVED MORNING ANNOUNCEMENTS

You may have noticed that there are some new students' voices coming over the speakers each morning. Indeed, the announcements team for the 2023-2024 school year includes seniors Marina Reid, Kaleb Shoemate, and Drew Mendians. Mr. Bennett and Mr. Harrigan are the staff mentors for the group. Each senior shares part of the load of the announcements. Marina chooses the music that opens up the announcements.

Marina commented that "it brings [her] so much joy to bring the music that students across the district can have to lighten up their mornings." If anyone has song suggestions, email Marina at 24reimar@manistee.org with the schoolappropriate track!

Mr. Bennett, in high spirits after the Lions 21-20 season opener Thursday night, voiced his pride in the group and the eclectic approach they bring: "I couldn't be prouder. They do a really good job. It's nice that there are three of them because they each have a different voice that brings something else to the table."

Kaleb explained how spreading information to the student body was rewarding as everyone learned more about what is going on: "I like...everyone being in the know. Yeah. I like to spread the word." Kaleb's love for spreading knowledge is also sparking some career interests in the field of journalism.

Drew really enjoys his role in the school: "It's an honor and a blast at the same time!"

The new announcements also include trivia questions each Thursday. The quickest to email the answer to Mr. Harrigan at sharrigan@manistee.org in each grade receives a cinnamon roll courtesy of Manistee's National Honor Society chapter.

Be sure to thank the three of these seniors for their contribution to our school.

STAFF OF THE WEEK: MR. STONEMAN

Written by Kaleb Shoemate

This week's staff spotlight is Mr. Stoneman! Mr. Stoneman is our district's Superintendent. Mr. Stoneman has recently moved into a new office location in the 7th grade hallway near Mr. Schweigert's room. Give him a wave and smile when you see him in his office!

Let's get to know him!

Question 1: How long have you been working at MAPS?

- This is my 8th year in the district and it's been amazing. Proud.

Question 2: What is your favorite part of being superintendent?

- My favorite part with anything education related is the kids. For 29 years l've been privileged to do this work.

Question 3: What are some of your favorite out-of-school activities?

- Sailing. I like sailing, the beach and traveling.

Question 4: Where did you go to college?

- I had a bit of a nontraditional collegiate experience. I started as a college student in my mid to late 20s. I attended GVSU sometimes full-time and sometimes part-time and worked along the way. Because GVSU was overloaded with student teachers in the " 90 s, I got waitlisted for a semester for a student teacher assignment. Having a sense of urgency, I applied to Aquinas College with the intent of getting my student teaching done right away. I returned to GVSU to earn my Master's Degree in Education Leadership.

Question 5: Who is your favorite celebrity?- Taylor Swift and Chris Stapelton or Snoop. No, really.

Question 6: What's your go-to casual outfit?

- Mariner Gear. Or anything school colors.

Asteroid City - True Mature Absurdity

Asteroid City was one of the more polarizing films that released last summer. Many critics loved it, but many others despised it. After I watched it, I fell in love with this film and rewatched it three times! So if you didn't understand the movie or haven't watched it, let me explain why it's so amazing!

This film is a mock documentary of the inner workings of a theatrical play and fully utilizes this setting to create an impressively unique storyline. It often switches between black-and-white "real world" scenes and the colorful world of the play being performed, which provides lots of foreshadowing to events within the play while also providing hints as to the actual philosophy of the film. This film takes a distinct "watch once to enjoy, watch again to understand" approach to filmmaking that I can never get enough of, and it lends itself very well to the existential themes that can often feel obscured by the absurdist approach the film takes.

Aside from the film's subtext, the viewing experience is a great time too! As I mentioned, the film is incredibly absurd. You can think of it like Barbie (2023) but with aliens and more dialogue, and you'll already have a pretty good idea of the film. The actors were outstanding, the sets were beautiful, and this was possibly my favorite film of the summer!

I'm intentionally avoiding going into details on the literal storyline of this movie because it's absolutely meant to be watched blind! You may come out of the film confused at first, but if you're really willing to explore the themes of this story-rich movie, I assure you that you'll come out with complete and utter satisfaction.

I give Asteroid City a rating of 9/10.

WHAT IS ESPORTS?

Written by Duncan Alexander
ESports is an extracurricular program for MHS where students can play video games competitively. Gamers can play Super Smash Brothers, Splatoon 3, Mario Kart 8 Deluxe, NBA 2K24, Madden, League of Legends, and even Hearthstone!

MHS uses Switches, PS5s, and Laptops for the program. The eSports team is in preseason right now, but will soon start playing competitively against other schools and may end up at college campuses competing!

ESports has practice every day after school, and students can stop by anytime! Whether they've played professionally or against their siblings from time to time, the team is happy to have them! Practice is at 3-5 in the library.

> How would you describe your job here? With this being the first eSports at Manistee, I had to do a lot of research on what equipment was needed, order it all, set it all up, and find out how to get students to sign up. What I like about coaching is giving the players a chance to show their leadership skills and helping out everyone on the team. I'm there to support the team with mentorship and make sure we have. -Coach Chad Murray

What part of eSports are you excited for?

"I'm excited to play with friends" Caleb Eilers
"Playing games competitively against others" Will Noteware "Because I like Splatoon" Lauren Smith "League of Legends" Max Nottingham

"I joined because it's something I do a lot, so I might as well put those skills to use." LaPaul Jr
"I'm excited to work with all these different kids and push them to connect with the school and with others, I hope that l'll play a part in improving their lives." Duncan

APPLEBEES

UNLIMITED

 WINGSApplebee's Neighborhood Grill + Bar has been running a special promotional on its boneless wings. For the past month or so, for the small price of 12.99, customers are given a plate of bottomless wings and fries. They offer six different flavors of sauce ranging from hot buffalo to honey pepper or classical garlic parmesan. After the initial plate, the customer can order another plate to keep eating. They are free to do so as long as they can.
Many people of all generations have taken part in the promotion, and some even consider it a challenge. The name of the challenge is to eat as many wings as possible. It may seem like a foolhardy challenge to some, but to others, it is a fun social event where they can do what they love most: eat. The wings come out in platters of 4 or 8. The original order of boneless wings comes out with eight individual wings with a side of fries. Any refills come with just 4 wings and a side of fries only if specified. The challenge only ends when someone either can't finish an order of wings, taps out, or sadly vomits the wings they have ingested until this point.

After talking to several MMHS students who partook in this challenge, I have achieved a much clearer understanding of how challenging the competition really is. Grayson Prince (12) and Luke Senters (12) ate 33 and 38 wings, respectively. Prince was quoted as saying, "This is the most intense challenge l've ever participated in. I've never been so destroyed after eating." While Senters told me that you either "Go big or go home". Jacob Scharp (12), who downed 32 wings, claimed that "it was the worst I have ever felt after eating food in my entire life." following the gorg-fest, Scharp sprawled out on the lawns of Applebees and claimed that "[he] want[ed] to puke ."Sophomore Landin Sowa downed a respectable 30 wings. Following this, he said that "he felt sick and lost his appetite for chicken." He continued to mention that he enjoyed himself and thought it was a great challenge. While many students participated in the event, only a few were satisfied following it. Overall, I recommend the experience because it is an affordable way to spend quality time with good friends.
